Customer Problem Statement Template:

Mr. John is a newspaper editor. He wants to post a recent incident . He remembers a similar incident but unsure of its details. He is actively researching the incidents that match the current situation so as to write the article . These problems are common to many beginning and experienced editors.

1. Who does the incident affect?
2. What are the boundaries of the incident?
3. What is the issue?
4. When does the issue occur?
5. Why is it important that we fix the problem?
6. What solution to solve this issue?
7. What methodology was used to solve the issue?

These are the questions these can keep us in a correct way to approach our desire.

Problem Statement (PS)	I am (Customer)	I'm trying to	But	Because	Which makes me feel
PS-1	A school student	To collect various useful real life incidents that support my projects.	I can't able to do it myself that much easily	It requires more internet connection and high power consumption	Not capable to do anything

PS-2	A newspaper editor	Keep track of all the previous incidents to make sure that my organization's credibility is unaltered.	Can't able to do	The incidents may have occurred long back and they might have not been documented properly.	To think forward for new technologies that help to get more productivity and benefits.
